Caring for a loved one should never mean sacrificing your stability.

When Louis's Alzheimer's disease advanced, his daughter and son-in-law welcomed him into their home, but the daily demands quickly became overwhelming. His daughter reduced her work hours to offer Louis more care, and the family faced growing financial strain. At Joe's Club Adult Day Health Center, one of the safety net agencies that receives funds from United Way Space Coast, Louis found connection, activities, nutritious meals, and safe supervision. His daughter was able to return to full-time work, while the family regained time to rest and regroup. When Louis recently lost his health insurance, Joe's Club staff stepped in with resources and resolved the issue in days, once again restoring balance for his family.

United is the Way we support families when they need it most.
